EXCELLENT STUDY FOR FARM BOYS DURING WINTER MONTHS

Plant Growth in Its Various Stages Described Especially for the Benefit of Our Youths Who Wish to Make It Object Lesson During Severe Cold Months—Needful Things.

(By MRS. L. GRIMES.)

From fall till spring seems like a long time to a boy, especially if he has a choice lot of seeds that he is anxious to put into the ground. But there is a great deal to be done during the time of waiting.

The boy who does not mean to waste his time and labor must learn something about what his plants will need before he is even ready to prepare his ground.

The first thing needful is to understand something about the make-up of the seed itself. As seeds are quite similar in general characteristics, studying one closely will give a fair understanding of others.

The common white bean is easy to get, and to study, so we will take in as an example.

Soak a few beans in water overnight. Then take one and cut the tough outer covering around the edge with the point of a pin. The halves can then be easily spread apart, and takes a microscope of quite high power to detect them. These are the plant's lungs. Through them it gets the air it needs to live on.

If you cover a plant so tightly that it cannot get air, it will smother just as surely as you would with a blanket over your head. That is what will happen if you get your seeds in too deep, or if you let the ground get hard above them before they come up.

If you wish to be sure just how deep to plant your seeds, try this little experiment.

Take a tall glass tumbler, or a pint fruit-jar, and fill it with earth. Press down into it, next the glass, three seeds of any kind you wish to test. Press the first clear to the bottom, the second about half way to the bottom, and the third leave within an inch of the top. Do not put them directly over one another. Wrap a heavy paper around the glass to keep out the light, and keep the earth in it moist and warm.

Every day slip off the paper, and note how the seeds are doing. Which ever one thrives the best is the one you want to take as your guide in the matter of depth. What do you think will happen to the one at the bottom?

You have noticed that there is a great part of the seed that is not filled up by the baby plant. This part is filled with food upon which the plant lives until it gets roots long enough to feed itself.

After the food in the seed is all used up, there must be other food in the soil ready for it to live on. This is the critical time in a young plant's life. If it is starved and stunted now, it will never make up for it.

Remember, then, that good seed, a well prepared seed-bed, and plenty of Seeds need air for germination. The beans in both bottles were soaked 24 hours and then were put in dry bottles. Bottle A contained sufficient air to start the few seeds. Bottle B had not enough. The water in the tumbler C did not contain sufficient air for germination.

the tiny plant discovered. It lies snugly cradled in one end of the bean. You will see that it has two parts, a small waxen point, and a tiny, yellowish, folded leaf. The point is the root, and a tender, delicate thing it is. This little root must work its way down into the ground, both to feed and to hold in place the little plant. If the ground is not well prepared, if it is too hard and cloddy, the little root may become so broken and bruised as to hinder, or perhaps entirely check, its growth.

The tiny leaf, too, which must push upward, needs a soil that is soft and loose. If it is not to be injured. Plant a few seeds in a bed of wet sawdust, and you will soon see, branching out from the main root, many little rootlets. A little later, a set of fine hairs, called root-hairs, will appear on the rootlets.

It is through these that the plant gets its nourishment from the soil. They take up all the elements that the plant needs, and send them up through little veins to the stems and leaves, as your food is taken through your body by the veins, in the shape of blood.

The plant's blood is called sap. The tiny mouths can only use the food in the soil when it is "in solution," that is to say, when it is thoroughly dissolved. You can see that it will need considerable moisture to do this. If the ground is too light and loose, the water will all drain and dry away, and no matter how rich the soil may be, the plant will die for want of food.

So an important thing to keep in mind, when preparing the seed-bed, is that the top soil, to the depth of several inches, should be worked up lightly and loosely enough so that the root can readily push through, and still be pressed firmly enough so that the moisture can not all escape.

All over the stem and leaves are little openings, called "pores." It food in the right shape for the young plant to use, are the first things to look after. If you wish to make a good profit on your season's work.

HANDLE MANURE DIRECT IS BEST

Prof. Gilmore of New York Station Finds Much Loss Where Allowed to Be Exposed to Weather.

On the subject of hauling manure, Professor Gilmore of the New York experiment station, says: "We think, all things considered, it is better to haul manure directly from the stable to the fields than it is to pile it up for any length of time."

"If well-rotted manure is desired for trucking purposes or for top dressing for hay lands, then it must be stored, but under ordinary conditions for this purpose losses from 25 to 45 per cent. in the fertilizing value of manure occur, and if it is not kept reasonably wet and stirred from time to time, excessive fermentation results, to say nothing of dry burning and leaching. Losses amounting to 37 to 57 per cent. have been recorded when manure has been exposed to weather."

This loss refers mainly to the fertilizing material in the manure. It is still available as humus or organic matter when applied to the soil."

WIRE STRETCHER IS POWERFUL

My wire stretcher is made out of an old mowing machine guard, writes Willie Ballard, rural route 5, Weston, W. Va., in an exchange. Get a pole about four and a half or five feet long, fasten the wire, which should be about two and a half feet long, to the guard, and then about two feet from the end of pole, and you have a stretcher that is a dandy for stretching barbed wire.

"Cardui Cured Me"

For nearly ten years, at different times, Mrs. Mary Jim's of Treadway, Tenn., suffered with womanly troubles. She says: "At last, I took down and thought I would die. I could not sleep. I couldn't eat. I had pains all over. The doctors gave me up. I read that Cardui had helped so many, and I began to take it, and it cured me. Cardui saved my life! Now, I can do anything."

TAKE The CARDUI Woman's Tonic

If you are weak, tired, worn-out, or suffer from any of the pains peculiar to weak women, such as headache, backache, dragging-down feelings, pains in arm, side, hip or limbs, and other symptoms of womanly trouble, you should try Cardui, the woman's tonic. Prepared from perfectly harmless, vegetable ingredients, Cardui is the best remedy for you to use, as it can do you nothing but good. It contains no dangerous drugs. It has no bad after-effects. Ask your druggist. He sells and recommends Cardui.

A Young Man Dies.

Hansford D. Kennedy, the 15-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Kennedy, died at their home two miles south of town at midnight last Friday. For six months he had been a constant sufferer from Bright's disease, which had for some years manifested itself at times. Hansford was a bright, manly boy, and was not only a favorite of his parents, but was one of the most popular boys of the neighborhood. He was kind, thoughtful and obedient, and possessed the desirable qualities that made and held friends. Through all his sufferings he was uncomplaining bearing his afflictions with fortitude that was unusual. He realized that his case was hopeless, but met the condition without a tremor, declaring he was ready to answer the call whenever it came, and expressing the hope that he might die young. Rev. W. H. Weston conducted the funeral service at Friendship church at 1:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, and the church was packed with relatives and friends. His parents, brothers and sisters have the most profound sympathy of a wide circle of friends, as the death of this boy is a general loss.

Five Killed in Explosion.

Central City last Wednesday experienced its first serious mine explosion, when five men were killed and the property of the Central Coal & Iron Co. seriously injured. About 4:30 o'clock, soon after the shot fired had begun their work, the explosion occurred supposedly from the ignition of dust that had been raised by the succession of shots fired in knocking down the coal. This or a "windy shot" is the only thing that could have caused the accident. As every man who was in the mine was killed, it will never be known just the cause. A fortunate thing was that about 225 men had left the mines a short while before, or the calamity would have been the worst that ever occurred in the state. The dead:

David Doss, unmarried.
Ira Allen, widow and two children.
Wm. Matthews, widow and two children.
Eric Lundquist, a Swede, widow and three children.
George Ruby, widow and three children.

The deaths caused the greatest sorrow, and the attendance at the burials was large, and composed of people from all parts of the county.

If you have never used the Dustless mop better try one now. Come in and see how nice they are.

Death of Mrs. Thomas Finley.

Susan A. wife of Mr. Thomas Finley died at their home north of the city at 8 o'clock last Sunday evening, following an illness of just a week from pneumonia. For some years she has been a sufferer from asthma, and the complication of ailments, coupled with her age of 74 years, was more than could be successfully combated.

Mrs. Finley was a Miss Robinson, and was born and lived her long and useful life in the county, being one of its pioneers. She was a devout Christian woman, possessing many attractive characteristics, and was a much beloved woman. Dr. H. C. Ford delivered an appropriate and effective talk at the home at 10:30 o'clock Tuesday morning, having as interested listeners quite a congregation of relatives and friends, and the body was carried to Pleasant Hill church, where it was deposited in that well-kept cemetery, an immense throng of friends gathering there. Her only daughter, Mrs. Chas. Shutt, and her husband have many friends who share their sorrow, and there is universal extension of sympathy to them.

At the Presbyterian church next Sunday morning Dr. Henderson's subject will be "The Home."

It will be a silver tea, and everyone is expected to bring an offering of silver. There will be a musical program, and refreshments will be served free. The offerings will be turned into the treasury of the society.

How Land Values Grow.

The recent transfer of a tract of land presents for study the rise in price. This tract is within two miles of town, and is very good, the tract of about 120 acres was bought for $345. The purchaser was enough money to pay for the land. Since then the land has been divided, and there are about 50 acres in the tract that was recently transferred. The price paid for the 50 acres was $900. It would require some fine calculation to ascertain just how much the price per acre has been, on account of varying conditions, but any primary school child can tell you that it is a few hundred per cent. Farmers are therefore also complaining of the "increased cost of living," as investment and taxes are higher than ever before on the owner of the land.

The general thaw has brought roads that are hard to navigate, and small loads and long time are necessary. Muhlenberg farmers will yet learn that the heaviest road tax is poor roads, and when they do, then they will tax themselves rich by building permanent highways.

Mr. John Hallinan suffered a fall on the street Tuesday night, and was severely shocked by the concussion. PORTABLE STOCK FEED RACK Found of Great Convenience for Use During Cold Months of Fall and Winter—Saves Waste.

When it is desirable to feed stock in the lot or yard as is often the case during the fall and early winter, a portable feed rack may be made similar to this shown in the accompanying illustration, and will be found to save enough feed to pay for the material and labor of making in a very short time. For instance, pieces of 2 by 6 lumber are best, while fence boards six inches wide are the best material for boarding. A space of about six inches should be left between each board, up the sides and at the ends. This rack can be either placed on runners or if rollers are available they are better. In fact, I have found the wheels to be the most convenient, and the wheels from an old lumber truck are very suitable for the purpose, but any kind of old wheels will be all right. However, if there are no wheels available, just make it on runners and it can be drawn from place to place without much trouble. Do not feed on the ground. This full these racks will be especially valuable for the feed may be short and the need of saving great in many places.

COMMON DISEASE AMONG PIGS

Thumps Is Caused by Overfeeding and Lack of Exercise—Best Plan Is to Prevent Disorder.

(By W. H. UNDERWOOD.)

Thumps is a common disease among pigs and is caused by overfeeding and lack of exercise. The disease is easily prevented by careful feeding and seeing that the pigs get plenty of exercise. Unless promptly dealt with when pigs are first seized, the disease is pretty certain to harm them seriously. In quite a number of instances they die. The most prominent indication of thumps is a jerky motion at the flanks in connection with their breathing. The nerves of the diaphragm are affected, hence the trouble is sometimes called spasms of the diaphragm. In some instances there is wheezing. The affected animals soon lose thrift, and even though they recover they are more or less stunted for a good long time, subsequently. Medicines cannot do much of any good for pigs affected with thumps. The best plan is to prevent the disorder, and this can be done by feeding no more than the pigs will eat up clean, and see that they get exercise. In winter pigs are inclined to remain in bed, and in such cases it is well to compel them to exercise by chasing them about with a switch.

SELF-FEED RACK AND SHED

Can Be Filled With Hay, Straw or Fodder as It Is Eaten—Can Be Refilled When Desired.

Three or more stout posts are set on each side (as long as you wish to make the shed), firmly in the ground. About six feet from the ground board up and roof, like any other building, allowing a large window to each end. Make the feeding rack of poles through the center like a V, the upper end of the poles resting on the outside plates.

This shed can be filled with hay, straw or fodder as fast as it is eaten from below. It settles down and can be refilled whenever necessary.

This rack is adaptable to the needs of sheep, cattle and other stock, as it provides good shelter and makes, too, a covered manure shed, for the waste put out will be tramped under foot and by the tamping converted into manure.

Profitable Farming.

Stock your farm with all the stock it will carry, and feed well and you will find that year by year it will get more fertile, will produce more, and, of course, will carry more stock, and year by year your income will increase.

Push the Pigs.

It is a mistake not to grow the pigs rapidly from birth to market. They should gain every pound possible on the way.

"I am all right now, thanks to Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy."

The same relief is ready for you. Are you sure you do not need it? If Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy helped Charles Holmes, why won't it help you?

"I was troubled with heart disease, and after reading about Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy, I got a bottle. Before I got the Heart Remedy I had to sit up most of the night, and felt very bad at my stomach. Whatever I would eat made me feel worse, and my heart beat very fast. But thanks to Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy, I am all right now. I eat good, sleep good, and feel like a new man, although I am almost 68 years old. I have been a soldier in the late war of the rebellion, and was badly wounded." CHARLES HOLMES, Private Co.
